The patients suffering from smallpox near the American frontier have all recovered and are out of danger excepting two, whose recovery is considered doubtful. There has been some old feud existing between the parties.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

A Kanaka Supposed to Have Beaten His Wife to Death.

A Kanaka named Joe was charged in the Provincial court this morning with murdering an Indian woman named Lucy, of the Esquimalt Indian reserve. W. Fisher, J. P., acted as magistrate. Supt. Roycraft prosecuted.

Mary, an Indian woman, said she knew prisoner; on Sunday morning she went to Joe's house and saw Lucy dead on the bed; this was before daylight; heard prisoner say that he did not want anyone to wash his wife and make fun of her; Joe said he would wash her himself; saw no whiskey there; prisoner was sober.

Dr. W. Jackson said: I am a registered practitioner of this Province; made a post mortem examination of the remains of the deceased Indian woman. Her features were considerably swelled and a small wound on the left brow; removed the scalp and found a number of contusions on each side of the head; there was considerable effusion of blood between the scalp and the skull; I am of the opinion from what I saw that the woman died from concussion of the brain.

To Supt. Roycraft—The concussion would cause death; my opinion is that she died from repeated blows; the blows might be caused by the bottle or might have been struck with the slab of wood produced; a cut over the eye was superficial and would not cause death.

Amanda, an Indian woman, said prisoner came to the house occupied by witness on Sunday morning; went to the house and found Lucy dead; Joe said his wife died at 4 o'clock; witness lives about 30 yards from Joe's house; heard Lucy scream twice about 11 o'clock; saw a cut on the brow of deceased and marks on her throat; prisoner said Lucy fell from the bed on top of a bucket; deceased told witness that Joe would always beat her when he was drunk; Lucy told her nephews not to leave her because she said the Kanaka would kill her; often saw Lucy with black eyes; she said the Kanaka always beat her; saw no fireplace or stove in the bedroom.

Bluchie, an Indian doctor, said he heard a scream at midnight; went away next morning; always saw deceased with black eyes.

J. D. Campbell said—On Sunday afternoon Johnny, an Indian, came to my house and said Lucy was dead; saw the remains at the Indian reserve; there was a wound over the left eye; her neck was black; prisoner said she fell off a bed on a bucket; from the bed to the floor was about 15 inches; the bucket was nearly as high as the bed; prisoner said "I did not kill mamma, she fell on the bucket." On Monday witness went to the reserve; Joe was pretty drunk; arrested him on a charge of manslaughter.

Mr. Walker appeared for the prisoner at this stage of the proceedings.

Johnnie, an Indian, said he lived in the house adjoining the prisoner's; know Lucy, she was his aunt; saw her on Saturday afternoon; saw Joe in the evening; he was in liquor; before daylight Joe called witness and said his wife was dead; went into the house and found Lucy lying on the bed dressed; prisoner said she fell on a bucket; have heard Lucy scream when Joe beats her; have seen him beat her; Joe said: "You see my hands, if you come here and interfere I shall do the same to you as I did to your aunt;" saw a bottle in the room with liquor in it; saw Joe drink some; when he drinks he beats Lucy; she often told witness not to leave her as she was afraid Joe would kill her; have often seen his aunt's face black with bruises; after Joe drank what was in the bottle he threw the bottle out; he was sober on Sunday.

Louis an Indian, said he was 10 years old; slept in the next room to the one in which the woman was found dead; have seen the prisoner beat his grandmother; sometimes with his hands and sometimes with a piece of wood; on Saturday night I saw them both drink liquor; they were drinking when witness went to bed; heard a noise in the bed-room and awakened but was afraid to get up. Prisoner came to witness and told him to get up; he said he wanted to know where the woman was; Joe lit a lamp and went out. Witness has often heard his grandmother scream when Joe was beating her. Have seen the slab produced under prisoner's bed.

Provincial Officer J. Miller said he examined the slab produced; found black hair in four or five places on the slab; marked the places with red ink; found a long black hair in one place.

Prisoner was asked whether he had anything to say why he should not be sent up for trial for murder.

Mr. Walker said prisoner did not wish to say anything.

The magistrate then committed Joe for trial at the forthcoming assizes.

Tramways.

From what can be learned about electric tramways many efforts have been made of late years to adopt electricity for working tramways. Overhead and underground conductors have been, and are still employed; but the difficulty is to find a substitute for horse power in the crowded streets of towns, where overhead conductors are not admissable, and where those laid underground are exposed to a multiplicity of evils, such as bad drainage, the surface water collecting in the conduits and thereby causing a heavy loss of current and other troubles only known to those who have endeavored to cope with them. In this field the storage battery alone can compete with horse-power, and the Fourth Avenue line, New York, after experimenting for months has concluded to adopt this system altogether. The Electrical World of Sept. 22nd says: "It is, we think, impossible to exaggerate the importance of the work now being done on the Fourth Avenue in the introduction of electric street cars. There are many features special to this work, giving it unusual prominence and significance. New York city, to begin with, is peculiarly suitable for demonstrations of an improvement of this character, and our firm conviction is that the more the public see of the storage cars the more they will insist on having them. It is enough that the cars are swift, clean and safe, easily controlled, do not in the slightest degree affect the paving of the roadbed, save the horses from a cruel fate, abolish the malodorous car stables, lighten the work of the drivers, and are free from all the objections that can be raised against steam, cable, electrical overhead or electrical underground systems."

SPORTING NEWS.

The game on Saturday was no doubt one of the hardest contested games ever played in the province. It was generally conceded that the Nanaimo team played in better form than their opponents, and more especially was this noticed with regard to the Forwards, who on the Victoria side scarcely in a single instance heeled out the ball to their quarter backs. The cause of this probably arose from the home team never having played together before and also that they were put out considerably by the loss of one of their best men at the last moment. However, both sides played a plucky game and it is hoped that the return match will terminate with a more favorable result to the Victorians.

The race this morning on Beacon Hill, between Lascelles' Mayflower and Black's Coquitlam Jim, resulted in Mayflower winning easily.

GREAT SCULLING MATCH.

New York, Oct. 8—About 3,000 persons were in Madison Square Garden Saturday to see the opening of the "road sculling match" in which prominent oarsmen compete for $10,000 in prizes. At 6 o'clock this morning the score was as follows: Gaudier, 73 miles; O'Connor, 70; East, 67; Plaisted, 75; Lee, 49; Largan, 64; Toemer, 66, Bubear, 67; Conley, 43; McKay, 66; Hruan, 41; Ross, 53. The men will resume the race at two o'clock this afternoon. At 4:30 a. m. East was compelled to leave the track for good his machine being totally disabled.

LOSS OF CARIBOO-FLY.

She Runs on a Rock in Granville Channel.

By the arrival of the American fishing steamer Quickstep from the north on Sunday morning the loss of the steamer Cariboo-Fly in Granville Channel, near the Skeena River, was learned of. The Quickstep brought Capt. Meyer, Purser Dickinson, Second Engineer Kennedy, Fireman Steadman and the passengers of the Fly and landed them at Turner, Beeton & Company's wharf. The particulars of the accident as given officially by the captain, explains the accident fully.

The following statement has been put into the owner's hands by Capt. Meyer:

In regard to loss of the steamer Cariboo Fly, have to report as follows: Left Port Essington Sept. 30th bound for Victoria, with freight and passengers, myself in charge. At 7 p. m. steamer proceeding down Granville channel with clear weather, mate Roberts in charge with instructions to call me at 12 p.m., or sooner in case it came on foggy, which I expected it would after midnight. At about 11 p. m. while lying down in my room I heard the wheel chains suddenly rattling from being hove hard over. I looked through my window and saw the steamer heading for the starboard shore. I jumped into the pilot house where the mate was standing behind the man at the wheel. I stopped the port engine to turn the steamer to port, but in a few seconds the steamer struck the shore bow on. Put the engines to back full speed but without effect as the tide was falling. I ordered the engineer to get the pumps and syphon's ready so as to be prepared to use them in case the vessel should make any water. October 1st at 12:30 a. m. the stern of the steamer commenced to settle down and the water came into the engine room. I set all pumps and syphons going, but the water kept gaining steadily and at 2 p. m. the fires were put out by the water.

Seeing that the steamer was going down got all the boats over the side and landed the passengers and their effects on shore. Took the sails of the steamer and erected tents for shelter from the rain, which had commenced to pour down heavily in the meantime with a strong S. E. wind.

At daylight found that the stern of the steamer had settled down, the water reaching up on the upper deck to the after part of the pilot house. The hatches had burst open and part of the freight of salmon on the main deck had floated off into the channel with the tide. It was blowing and raining very heavily and there not being any suitable place on shore to camp, sent all the passengers and their effects in three boats to Lowe Inlet, seven miles distant, where there would be shelter and accommodation. Left crew at the wreck to save as much as possible from the steamer.

October 2nd. The American steamer Quickstep, Capt. Morton, came past Lowe Inlet on her way to Port Townsend. Asked the Captain to take passengers on board and land them at Victoria, which he did. Landed at the outer wharf, all well, on Sunday, October 7th, at 10 a. m.

The Fly was an old timer. She was built in this city by the Dunsmuir Bros., and on one her first trips was blown up in the harbor by the bursting of her boiler when one of her owners was killed. She was repaired by two men named McPherson & Frane and was subsequently in the employ of the Moodyville saw mill company. She was owned by Mr. Jos. Spratt before the present owners purchased her and has never been a very successful boat. Her cargo when the present accident occurred consisted of 3250 cases of salmon from the Windsor Canning Co., Aberdeen, Skeena. Her passengers were:

Geo. Cummingham, Geo. Clough, E. Struver, J. Skinner, Forrest Inspector M. Sullivan, Walter Poole, wife and two children, Jas. McInnes, one Chinaman.

The cargo of salmon was insured.

THE FIRST SHOT.

A Chinaman Returned by a Port Townsend Officer.

Yan Skip, a Chinaman from Seattle, visited Victoria last week, taking the precaution to obtain a return certificate from the customs authorities. During his absence, however, Congress passed and the President signed the exclusion bill, which provides that after its passage and approval no Chinese laborers shall be admitted into the United States. On reaching Port Townsend on his way back from this city the customs officers spied the lone Chinaman on deck and they let down on him like they would on a trunk of opium that they were not in with. Skip presented his certificate, but it was of no avail, and he was locked in a room, and kept there all night for the purpose of returning him to Victoria next Monday. Capt. Roberts is determined not to carry any more Chinese of any class out of Victoria until this question is finally settled as to whether Chinese holding certificates shall or shall not be admitted. At Port Townsend he was required to give bonds to the amount of $1600 as security that the four Chinese employed on board the Olympian would not step on Canadian soil when the vessel was here, as they would thereby in the eyes of U. S. officials forfeit their right to return. Captain Roberts thinks this is too much of a good thing, and will discharge his Chinese help before returning to Victoria. The right of the U. S. Government to exclude Chinese is undoubted, but to ordinary people it will appear that the repudiation of their own certificates is a breach of faith that no judicial tribunal will sustain.

A FALSE REPORT.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Your contemporary, the Colonist copied a paragraph from the Vancouver News-Advertiser, in which is the statement: "One of the most remarkable things in the north just now was the repopulation of Metlakahtla by the Indians. A number of those who had left with Mr. Duncan were now returning to their former homes," &c. As there were people in town this morning direct from Metlakahtla, after reading Dr. Haddon's report, I went to see them and enquire who and how many people had returned form Port Chester to take up their home again in Metlakahtla. The answer was not one. What end is to be gained by publishing such reports? Certainly, Dr. Haddon did not intend to make a false report. He only stated what somebody else had told him, without ascertaining the true state of affairs on the coast. The Dr. was evidently bent on whitewashing the Bishop. Sorry that such strange reports go to Victoria to mislead the public.

OUR MONOPOLISTS.

The advocate of monopoly denounces all who dare maintain the rights and claims of labor on capital; "envy, hatred, malice, and all uncharitableness," we are told, are characteristic of the workingmen and their advocates. Never does a man portray his own character more vividly than in his manner of portraying another's. But how can we expect a harvest of thought from those who have not had a seed-time of character? The monopolist organs' own words condemn them. Philosophers of ancient and modern days tell us that the saving of money for the mere sake of it, is a mean thing, even though earned by honest work. It is an acknowledged maxim of Christian teaching that to provide for others, and for our own comfort and independence in old age, is honorable, and greatly to be commended. The habit of inordinate saving in youth may be considered economy, generally in old age it grows into avarice. "The love of money is the root of evil," so saith the scripture; it is a love which narrows and contracts the soul and closes it against generous life and action. There is an old Scotch saying that "the penny siller slew mair souls than the naked sword slew bodies." The monopolists of this age have got into a rut and do not look beyond it: they live, exist and have their being for themselves and regard their fellows only in so far as they minister to their ends. Do they ever think of the good other men have done and which they could do, only for the greed and avarice of money making, at the expense of honest labor. May not conscience, when too late, show them their mistake. Riches are no proof of worth except they are put to proper use. Success, measured by the accumulation of money, is a very dazzling thing, and generally much admired. Although generally men of perseverance, sharp, dexterous and unscrupulous, ever on the watch to push opportunities, whether it be in coal, land or the framing of the laws in the legislature to further their own ends, yet they do not as a class possess elevation of character or true greatness. With no higher ambition than "siller" and to become very rich men, they remain very poor creatures indeed. Riches are no proof of moral worth. The glow worm's light reveals the grub—the glitter of gold too often reflects the worthlessness of the possessor.

In holding up the monopolist as an example for our workingmen to imitate, the advocates must fancy they are talking to a lot of infants. Their aim appears to be to highly estimate the power of money. The great things of the world were never accomplished by rich men. The men who first propagated the gospel over half the civilized world at the time were fishermen, mostly of the poorest class. Our great men, discoverers, thinkers and inventors, were men of moderate means, and some of them of no means at all. Riches are frequently more an impediment than otherwise, and often prove a misfortune instead of a blessing. But the rich man has his duties to perform to society and mankind if he is inspired with a proper spirit. We have had rich manufacturers, mine owners and bankers who were blessings to their fellow men. GEORGE PEABODY and the Baroness BURDETT-COUTTS are noble examples. We have many manufacturers dividing the profits with their employees, as did the firm of Minneapolis the other day. The BRIGHTS have always been the BRIGHTS. We never heard of them putting a corner on coal, or compelling their working hands to deal exclusively at the stores of their relatives by excluding storekeepers and traders from the vicinity of their mines.

If advocating the rights of the consumer against monopoly, the rights of the people in the legislature of the country against bribery and corruption; if condemning the making of one law for the railway monopolist, and another for the poor farmer, be socialistic or communistic doctrines, still we will advocate them till there is established in this free country a better order of things than exist at present. We will, we hope, always be found on the side of the weak and oppressed against the tyranny of wealth and the unholy influence it exercises in every department of the government of this country.

EXHIBITIONS.

The lesson learned from the apathy evinced by our manufacturers in the Provincial Exhibition, compels us in the interest of the future welfare of British Columbia, and Victoria in particular, to impress upon all having such at heart the necessity of immediate action in placing the annual Provincial Shows on a sound footing.

The first essential is that these exhibitions must be impartial, free from politics, and conducted so that every one, from the highest to the humblest, may have undoubted confidence in the undertaking. By this means there would be secured the support of all classes of the community. A more distinctive line might be drawn between the industrial and the agricultural, and also that of horticulture and pet stock. We understand that the nucleus of a society for the latter has been already formed. In the department of agriculture this province should make a very good showing. We have a varied climate, and pasturage unequaled. An essentially agricultural show could be made very attractive, were exertions put forth to secure that end.

While agriculture and the other kindred societies of horticulture, arts and stock are entitled to every attention and support, it is to manufacturing and industrial interests we wish to call earnest attention. If ever British Columbia is to partake in the wealth and progress of the world, it is to the development of our natural resources we must look. We possess in the mine, the forest, and the deep unbounded sources of wealth and prosperity; and it is to their advancement we should devote our energies. The City of Victoria alone possesses the beginning of many industries that add to the wealth of nations. These should be encouraged and an emulation created which would give an impetus to their development and advancement. It is an acknowledged fact that the first great international exhibition of London in 1851 did wonders towards the development of the manufactures, science and arts of the country. It brought the manufacturer, the inventor and designer into closer contact, creating a mutual understanding as to dependency on each other, and subsequent years proved the utility of the undertaking and its example was followed by all civilized nations.

In order that the exhibition may be a success the liberal aid of the government must be assured. Many men of the wealthier classes, anxious for the advancement of the country, could lend their aid in carrying out the laudable object. The imperial authorities, seeing the advantages of industrial exhibitions, have established a permanent hall for manufactures, arts and sciences. There are many points open for discussion. The first step is the establishment of suitable grounds and buildings, where all the exhibitions could be held under different directors, at times suitable to each department, or all at one time, and where outside exhibitors would be anxious to secure space. A guaranteed money grant from the governments, both of the Province and the Dominion, should also be secured. There is every material at hand—energy and application the only want. For our own sake let that be provided to utilise the talents given us by a bounteous Providence.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In his speech at the opening of Stanley Park the Hon. Jno. Robson claimed to be "the father of Vancouver" or rather he divided the paternity with Mayor Oppenheimer, of that city.

During his recent stay in Scotland Sir George Stephen, accompanied by Sir Donald Stewart, has been revisiting his birthplace, and the residents not unnaturally thought it fitting to pay honor to both visitors. At Dufftown, though the forthcoming visit was known only twenty-four hours in advance, a very hearty welcome was arranged. The school children were marshalled and paraded, the streets decorated, and afterwards illuminated, the villagers turned out in large numbers, and a banquet was given, at which both Sir George and Sir Donald, and Lady Stephen and Lady Stewart were toasted with much good-will. The parents of Sir George Stephen were likewise honored. When, a few days later, Sir George visited Glenrinnes, demonstrations of equal cordiality were the order of the day. Of the genuineness and spontaneity of the good feeling which prompted this truly Highland welcome there can be no doubt.

VANCOUVER COLUMN.

An Arbor Day—Cruelty—Painful Accidents—Sports—Personals.

From our own Correspondent.]

Vancouver, Oct. 6—Owing to the dryness of the weather the Mayor has decided to postpone the observance of Arbor Day until Thursday, the 25th inst. A variety of trees will no doubt be selected; but the kind to be principally used is the soft maple, as it is noted for its beauty and rapid growth, and can be more easely and cheaply procured than many others. As the citizens seem fully alive to the great importance and grand effect of trees in a city there is not a doubt but that Arbor Day, if at all favorable, will witness the uprising of a miniature forest, where so lately stood the giants of the wood which had defied all but the pioneers axe.

Fire Hall No. 2 has lately been furnished with a new steel bell, over two feet in diameter, and weighing 250 lbs. It was obtained from the east through Messrs. W. L. Leonard & Co., and is supplying a want which we fain would hope may never be felt.

The necessity for the organization of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals in this city is daily becoming more apparent, for apart from an unjustifiably free use of the whip and cudgel by some of our heartless teamsters, the eyes of our citizens and of straingers are pained to see a poor starved-looking and crippled nag being forced along our streets at the point of the gad and groaning beneath the weight of a loaded express wagon. Such a sight is a shame and a reproach to our city and should not be tolerated.

Boarder—(to Patrick, the landlord.)—"I'd be pleased to have another towel."

Pat.—"What's the matter with the one ye got?"

Boarder—"It's wet."

Pat.—"By me soul and there's no pleasing ye. Sure and there was fifty men dried themselves on that towl this morning, and you're the only man that complained."

Yesterday afternoon the tug Pilot towed in the bark Pacific Slope to load lumber at the Moodyville mill for Melbourne. The tug Vancouver brought a large barge load of limestone from San Juan and Pender islands last evening. The Government steamer, Sir James Douglas, Capt. Glaholme, arrived here yesterday morning with Mr. William Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine, and Capt. Lewis, Agent of the Department of Marine, and returned again to Victoria. Mr. Smith left for Ottawa the same day.

Yesterday morning, Ed. Schultz, a section foreman on the C. P. R., met with a very painful and serious accident near North Bend, whereby one of his hands was badly crushed by a falling rock. Dr. Lefevre was telegraphed for and left on the 12:45 p.m. express. He found his patient suffering great pain, the hand being in a most mutilated condition, but he thinks it may be saved from amputation.

Yesterday Messrs. Woodworth & Co., who are opening a coal and wood yard in this city, received three teams of horses from Brandon, Manitoba, via the C. P. R. The horses arrived in excellent condition.

This afternoon an indian named Billy Seymour, an employee of the Moodyville Sawmill Co., had his foot badly crushed by a heavy stick of timber falling upon it. He was removed to the Mission where his injuries were attended to.

We have had light showers of rain today with occasional glimpses of King Sol. It rained heavily at night.

The Vancouver Foot Ball club has received a challenge from the Westminster team, and the probabilities are that a match will be arranged to take place in that city on Saturday, the 27th inst. A practice game is to be played on the recreation grounds this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock. Next Saturday there will be a match between the old and new members of the club, and the following week the C. P. R employees will play a side composed of citizens.

This morning Chief of Police Stewart received a telegram in reference to S. D. Moore, who is supposed to have suicided on Wednesday night last by jumping from the deck of the steamer Yosemite. It reads as follows: "Minneapolis, Oct. 6, 1888.—Received news, Steve D. Moore suicided. Descriptions answer correct. When he left home wore white felt hat, light brown overcoat, checked undercoat well worn. Send notebook, letters and money; clothes by express to me. If body recovered look on right arm. Ship there. Answer. (Signed) CHAS. E. MOORE, 204 Washington Avenue, South." In reply the Chief referred Mr. Moore to Supt. Roycraft of the Provincial Police at Victoria, stating the affair was outside the jurisdiction of the municipal authorities.

Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, Assistant-General Manager of the C. P. R., accompanied by Dr. J. E. Roddick, Col. E. A. Whitehead, Mr. Chas. Cassels, Mr. S. McInnes and Mr. Chas. Dudley Warner, special correspondent of Harper's Weekly, left for the east in the Manager's private car "Champlain," attached to the Atlantic express. The party expressed themselves as delighted with their trip and specially pleased with Vancouver and its prospects.

This morning the Vancouver lacrosse players returned home on the Yosemite quite elated over their victory in the late contest with Victoria on Friday last. Next Wednesday evening they will be tendered a banquet at the Leland House, in honor of their noble success.

Yesterday afternoon a drunken sailor was found lying in the tide wash in a most helpless condition. The probabilities are that he would have been drowned, as the tide was rising, had he not been discovered and dragged to terra firma. This afternoon the same individual was making himself conspicuous on the street by wanting to fight every Chinaman that came his way. About seven o'clock this evening another individual, subject to King Alcohol, created a terrible sensation on Carroll street, near Oppenheimer, by furiously beating the air and shouting to the top of his voice. After considerable trouble his friends got him off the street. The police were not there.

A Chinese den to the south of Hastings street, near Beattie, was the scene of a hideous uproar and free fight last night.

The Juvenile Opera Company arrived from Seattle on the Premier this evening, and to-night they held forth before a large audience in Hart's Opera House, in the popular play of the "Chimes of Normandy." The singing was good, the acting, with one exception, excellent and both elicited rounds of applause. The company is deserving of all the praise accorded them, which is saying a good deal. Monday they conclude with "Pinafore."

The police are determined that the fight between Irving and Foster will not take place within their jurisdiction, if they know it.

The first edition of the Vancouver Weekly World made its appearance yesterday. It is a most creditable copy, and worthy the highest commendation, but nothing can assure it so decided a success as a constant endeavor to keep pace with the rapid progression of the Times.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade, to which the City Council was invited, was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, when important matters relative to recommendations to be made to General Middleton, K. C. M. G., on his return to this city from Victoria were discussed, besides other matters of importance to the city.

Yesterday was the anniversary of Master Louis Springer's birthday, to the celebration of which a number of children were invited, and a most delightful day was spent by the little juveniles at his home at Moodyville.

Oct. 7th, 1888—General Middleton arrived from Victoria this morning.

G. W. Irving, who is matched against Professor Foster for a contest to a finish with four ounce gloves, in this city on Friday next, is here and undergoing special training for the combat. The fight will be governed by Marquis of Queensberry rules. Stakes $250 a side; receipts to go to the winner.

It is surprising to see the progress that is being made in laying the water mains, over two miles already having been completed. Last night the sealers were at work with lamplight on Cambie street till a late hour. It is, however, to be regretted that the city council had not specified the exact positions of the fire hydrants, so that the work of re-opening the drains and tapping the pipes would not have occasioned so much extra work to the company and a bill of expense to the city.

The churches were well attended this morning, considering the cool and threatening aspect of the weather. The Rev. T. G. Thomson held a special service in the First Presbyterian church at 9 o'clock this morning for the purpose of addressing the fellow workmen of the late Henry Hall. Quite a large number attended. X.

PIONEERS AND COURTS.

Court Week in the Country—An Event of the Year—Sociality and Law well Mixed.

The Late Trial at Kamloops—Mr. Justice Walkem—Incorporation and Other Things.

From Our Own Correspondent.]

Last Monday ushered in court week. Court week in Kamloops, if not an event, possesses the essential qualities of one, not in respect to litigation wholly, but as a social feature. On the occasion of court week representatives from Nicola, Spallumcheen, Okanagan and other places here assemble, in the capacity of jurors, witnesses, and not infrequently as litigants. These men have not met each other for months, perhaps, and it so happens that notwithstanding the asperities of litigation, a vast amount of good fellowship prevails. Court week in my opinion is to some men a blessing in disguise. It is a species of enforced holiday. It may be fatiguing to sit on a jury for twenty consecutive hours; it may be annoying to be watched by a sarcastic sheriff; it may be exasperating to have one's supply of Jamaica ginger cut off; notwithstanding the development of certain abdominal phenomena, it may be contrary to economic principles to serve one's country at $2 per day, when at another vocation you could be earning $4; it may be disagreeable to feel that however just your verdict, somebody is going to kick; still court week is

A SPECIES OF RECREATION.

Sociability comes in and participants manage to extract considerable enjoyment from it. As I have just said, court week brings our representative men to Kamloops. The distinguishing features of these individuals are that the most of them are pioneers. Hero worship usually begins after the disappearance of the subject. We find it very difficult to fall down and worship a contemporary, however splendid his qualities. I shall not presume to say that our pioneers are proper subjects for hero worship, but there is no denying that they are objects of curiosity. Though still among us, and actively participating in business, these men are historical. We have read of their adventures by flood and field, of their riches one day and their poverty the next. We have wondered at their pluck and persistency, and finding ourselves in contact with the living representatives of these qualities, not to feel interested would be strange indeed. It is a delicate job between these men of the west and their eastern contemporaries. The westerner deprecates the five cent piece of the east; the easterner kicks hard and high over the two bit whiskey of the west. The one is unfamiliar with small change and it extends to all his transactions. He is inclined to lump things. The other, brought up in a different school, regards a nickle with respect. The western man's motto is look out for the two bit pieces and the dollars will take care of themselves; the eastern man's motto is look out for the five cent pieces and the dollars will take care of themselves. Without entering, however, into the refinements of the case, I should say, generally speaking, that the grand difference between the east and the west is the democracy of the latter. Conventionalities are not included in the category of the pioneer's household gods. He recognizes Mrs. Grundy, but he hasn't much respect for her. Recollecting the time when there were no social distinctions, when the veriest scrub in camp was likely to become a millionaire at any moment, he still continues to remain off hand, and to despise social lines of demarcation. It will be a sad day for this world when there is no longer new countries to develop. There will be no opportunity then to develop those which are inseparable to democracy. In the place of men who despise nice social distinctions we shall have a refined, hair-splitting generation, enervated and innocuous. Then shall Macaulay's Sandwich Islander stand on the smoke-stack of the Shuswap Milling Company and wonder why it was that the manages thereof opposed incorporation; yes, our pioneers are curious to contemplate. Time may have dug deep trenches on their brows and have started a clearing on the summits of their craniums, the rising generation may occasionally sneer at them for being fogyish, but they are living entities of a glorious past; splendid examples of indomitable energy, and, if they sometimes eat with a knife, we are none the less their debtors. All honor to our pioneers. To advert more directly to my subject—

DRAWING A COMPARISON

COURT WEEK

—the calendar this term is an extremely light one. Court week, in the language of the street, ain't what it used to be. Four years ago Messrs. Davie, McColl, Eberts and other lawyers of note wrangled in the little old log court-house in behalf of clients innumerable, notably among whom was Mallott, who subsequently was hanged. Times were lively then. Onderdonk's money flowed like water. Heavens, how the boys used to blow themselves. Since that delectable period, however, business activities have sensibly diminished, and with the subsidence of the golden stream peculiar to business operations, litigation, the invariable concomitant, has floated away on the tide. Incipient milleniums are at hand, and what are the lawyers going to do about it? A light court calendar. This sounds splendid. Lots of honest people will exclaim what a delightful state of affairs. We have risen superior to lawing—

WE ARBITRATE.

With all due respect for His Lordship, and I concede to him uncommon powers of acumen, with all due respect for the grand jury, which I admit to be composed of sensible men, I take issue with them in their mutual congratulations (judge and jury) that the calendar was so light. This law suit shortage, creditable as it may appear on the outside, indicates the lowness of the financial barometer. Business generates lawsuits. When there is plenty of money, there are also plenty of law suits. Prosperity and litigation go hand in hand. I would not have it understood that this locality is not prosperous, but the fact of the paucity of lawsuits is indicative of the slothfulness of progress. So while we congratulate ourselves on the prospect of the lawyers starving to death, let us beware least a like fate overtake us.

THE CAUSE CELEBRE

of this term of court, is the Archer murder case. I don't care to venture remarks which might be construed as invidious, but it is nevertheless the fact that the alleged murder transpired at Golden, a town not far removed from delectable Donald. Although the evidence in this case does not directly show that our mountaineers are of an especially sanguinary disposition, it is easy to infer that a condition of armed neutrality exists. Bears are frequent in the vicinity of Golden. They preambulate through potato patches and bathe in irrigating ditches. The frequency of bears necessitates the carrying of pistols, and so it happens that when an altercation between men occurs one of them goes over to the "silent majority" with his boots on. Such at least was the case with regard to Messrs. Kennedy and Archer. They met in a lonely spot, words ensued, and Kennedy, loaded for bear, filled Archer with bullets. The evidence went to show that Archer was the aggressor. Had Archer in his dying struggles succeeded in braining Kennedy with his hoe the dramatic antics of the case would have been perfect, and the world rid of two men of little consequence. After considering the case for twenty hours the jury brought in against Kennedy, and the judge sentenced him to imprisonment for life. The case was a perplexing one, there being no witnesses to the affair. It was clear enough that Kennedy should be punished but to what extent was the question. The judges analysis of the case was admirable, for in recapitulating its features certain mutual and moral phases had to be discussed to account for the extraordinary conduct of the prisoner. Of these some were against him and some were for him. On the whole a more luminous charge I never listened to. His Lordship used antithesises, effectively producing points against and for the prisoner with great clearness, pitying the man one moment and condemning him the next. The judiciary of this province, as exemplified by Judge Walkem, is a matter of congratulation.

Of the local excitement this summer

was not one of the least. It was opposed on the ground of too much sugar for a cent, and the taxation of sundry unimproved town lots. For some time past, the project though not dead has been sleeping, quietly, serenely, and it is not improbable that it would have continued to sleep until next year only that Judge Walkem gave it a poke from the bench. I need not here report the judge's language. It is sufficient to say that he favored the incorporation of the town, and backed it up with powerful reasons. The opponents of incorporation turned pale about the gills at a blast against them from such high authority. To-night the petition will be sent below to be acted upon by government officials. We would say to these gentlemen that they need be afraid of giving letters of incorporation to the people of Kamloops.

—Hanson Craig, of Kentucky, claims to be the heaviest man in the world. He weighs 792 pounds and it takes 37 yards of cloth to make him a suit of clothes. He weighed 206 pounds when he was two years old. His father weighed 115 pounds and his mother 122.

—What Toronto's well known Good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and I have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure."—CLARA E. PORTER.

—All beds seem hard to the rheumatic. Then harken ye peevish sufferers! Apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to your aching joints and muscles. Rely on it that you will experience speedy relief. Such, at least, is the testimony of those who have used it. The remedy is likewise successfully resorted to for throat and lung diseases, sprains, bruises, etc.

—Faces as yellow as that of the "Heathen Chinee," in consequence of bile in the blood, grow fair and wholesome-looking again when Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and great blood purifier is used to relax constipated bowels and expel the billious poison from the circulation. Rheumatic and blood impurities are also driven out by it, digestion restored, and the system benefited in every way by its use.

—Gilbert Laird, St. Margaret's Hope, Orkney, Scotland, writes:—"I am requested by several friends to order another parcel of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The last lot I got from you having been tested in several cases of Rheumatism, has given relief when doctors' medicines have failed to have any effect. The excellent qualities of this medicine should be made known, that the millions of sufferers throughout the world may benefit by its providential discovery."

—A New York watch dealer has imported from Switzerland the smallest watch ever made. The dial and works are just the size of a silver half-dime, but it is a complete watch in every respect, being a stem winder, stem setter, and full jeweled. Other watches have been made quite as small as this, only they have always hitherto had their size through the omission of part of the works.

—Twenty years ago Josiah P. Griswold left his home at Madison, Connecticut, with only $2.50 in his pocket. He had failed at everything he undertook. Last week he turned up in Madison to look over the scenes of his younger days. He came in his private car. He has made a million of dollars through his own enterprise in the West.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and when these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

A Success.

The French Hotel, under the management of the well known epicure, Mr. Escalet, is meeting with excellent success. All speak in glowing terms of the cuisine. The place to get the best dinner in town. Meals at all hours during the day.

The Right Time.

Probably there is no period in life more important for the mental and moral training of youths than that between eight and seventeen years of age. Runaways.

The quietness of Yates street was disturbed on Sunday morning by two runaways. A horse belonging to W. Dickson, attached to a light buggy, ran down Yates street and collided with Mr. Cheffey's milk wagon, which was standing in front of A Lewis' store. The two horses then ran around the streets for some time. One of the wagons finally collided with another carriage on Johnson street. Cheffey's horse was caught on Douglas street near the fountain. The only damage done was the breaking of the buggy and scattering of a few milk cans around the streets.

Memorial Service.

I response to a request by the men of H. M. S. Caroline, Rev. Mr. Wadman preached a memorial service in the Gorge Road Church last evening, on the death of Thomas Drudy, killed by the bursting of a gun on board ship on Wednesday last. Between 50 and 60 of the old comrades of the deceased were present and occupied seats in the front of the church. The reverend gentleman, choosing for his text the words, "There is but a Step between Life and Death," delivered a sermon which is praised by all who heard it as one of his best efforts. The church was scarcely equal to the congregation present.

Crime of Seduction.

The Portland Oregonian, in an article headed the "need of watchfulness," comments upon the innumerable reports of the ruin and death of young girls, and especially on a case which occurred in this city some time ago. The paper refers to the number "who have been led astray or volunteered to questionable lives through bad company, and says that the crimes of seduction, abduction, and kindred outrages have swelled to such a tidal wave of vice and shame that the stealing of a young woman's honor has come to amount to very little more than the stealing of her pocket handkerchief, and yet it entails more misery, shame and vice than all the stealing done in other ways. It suggests as one means of prevention that the natural guardians and protectors of young girls—the fathers, mothers, brothers and older sisters—will do well to attend more closely to the goings and comings of the girls, and thus prevent the dire results of too much trust and confidence in their male associates."

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

Saturday Half Holiday—Exhibitions—The Baby Show, Etc.

Many weeks ago the Major drew attention to the Saturday half holiday for our workingmen. He wrote a homily to the city fathers on the subject, which combined with morals and the honesty of a few months, would form good planks in the platform for the next civic election. The gentle hint has been taken. We have the advocates of monopoly taking advantage of the spirit of THE TIMES. Out of evil good may come, and if they secure the half holiday, amend the morals, put down cruelty to animals, be a little more honest in handling the money of the ratepayers, then indeed has the endeavors of the Major not been in vain.

The great event of the season has passed and gone like a flaming comet, leaving an extended tail of disappointment. It was a picture to see the "coming man," our Senator from 'Squimault, lemonading the first ladies is in the land around. But how came he to neglect Lady Middleton? Perhaps she could influence no votes. Taking things all in all, considering there wasn't a cent spent in decoration, not a yard of bunting—even the "Jack" on the gable end of the barn would have been the better of a little renovation—the absence of proper light, day and night alike—the crowd was there anyway, and if they had nothing to see that could look at one another—a kind of mutual admiration fair society. So far it was a success.

The great event came off on Saturday at two o'clock; John Boyd's tent the scene. Here were the happy mothers and the cooing, laughing babies, "the Senator" all blandishments and smiles—the friend of the workingman (?) The competitors increased and the tent was found too small. John hauled his chairs outside in the open; the rain ceased for the time, and the sun shone down on the small gathering of innocence in the centre of a crowd. There was the "Sam Slick" of Victoria, hat in hand, gaining the hearts of the fond mothers through the hearts of their babies. John cleared the crowd and unintentionally in so doing hurting a little child. Ex-Mayor Fell quoted Scripture, "Suffer little children to come unto me." The judges were the portly ex-Mayor, Postmaster Shakespeare, and John Boyd! Now, if it had been good, pure mountain dew, a tear off Ben Nevis, good, wholesome "usquebaugh," that never saw the face of a gauger, John might have done, but babies! The ex-mayor smiled, chucked the babies under the chin, patted their heads to feel the color of the hair; dark or brown, fair or white, stood no chance. "Sweet auburn, loveliest baby of the plain," captured the trick. The Senator was well pleased; so were the babies by the candy doled out by the ex-mayor. The Senator smiled, put on his hat, stroked his ample chest, and said softly to himself, "well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of office and power." Were the mothers pleased? Well, it's hard to say. The major, had he been judge, would have——; but we all have our white-haired boys.

The man moralist on Government Street has gone into quoting Shakespeare. He also gives a lecture on thinking. The Major wonders what the Colonist man was thinking about when he fetched back his moral friend Prof. Menzies. Man! go, think, ponder and ruminate on things past and present. If you had been good at thinking the Prof. would not now be languishing in quod, nor the moral tone of our fair city have become the derision of our eastern fellow citizens. So thinks THE TOWN MAJOR.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Business Transacted at the Morning Session—Delegates Present.

The Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union assembled in the Temperance Hall this morning to report the work done by their society during the past year and to plan work for the coming year. A Bible reading was given by Mrs. McNaughton and joined in by a large number of ladies; it was both interesting and instructive. At 10:30 the convention was formally opened by the president and ladies assembled reading the Crusade Psalm in concert (Psalms 146), singing the Crusade hymn, "Give to the wind thy fears, etc." and repeating the Lord's prayer. The roll of officers and superintendents of department was then called. The Committee on Credentials reported delegates from the Unions at New Westminster, North Arm, Vancouver, Chilliwhack and Victoria. Rev. Dr. Reid then spoke words of welcome to the convention expressing his gladness that the ladies had determined to unite their efforts to assist in uprooting this great curse to humanity. Valuable papers were read by the secretary on good order and rules of order.

Committee of nominations was appointed. The report of the recording secretary was read and accepted. At 12 o'clock the noon hour of prayer was observed after which the convention adjourned to the lunch room where a bountiful repast was served.

A CLOSE CALL.

A Team Has a Narrow Escape on the C P. N. Wharf.

There was a narrow escape from a disastrous accident on the C. P. N. wharf this morning. A seven-ton boiler for the steamer Isabel was being taken to the wharf by a Victoria Truck & Dray Company's team. In order to assist the team in taking so great a load down the incline leading to the dock a strong rope was attached to the rear of the truck and hitched round a post on the street in such a way that it could be slacked off and the load let down gently. The truck started down, but when a few yards from the top the rope broke. The horses, a fine team driven by F. Galbraith, held back with all their might for a few seconds, but finding it impossible to hold back the pressure, they started for the bottom on the jump. The driver, with remarkable coolness and presence of mind, held on to the reins and guided the team straight into the freight shed at the foot of the wharf. As they entered the door at full gallop, just before letting go of the reins, he jerked them suddenly to one side and this was all that saved the team and load from disaster. The momentum was checked and although the horses were dashed up against the side of the freight shed with sufficient force to knock a large slice out of it, scarcely anything worse happened than the breaking of the tongue of the dray wagon. One of the horses was slightly scratched and caulked but sustained no serious injury. The plucky conduct of the driver saved the whole outfit.

Juvenile Opera Company.

This excellent company will open in the Victoria Theatre on Wednesday evening with Olivette. The prima donnas are Misses Julia Martin, Camille Cleveland and Emma Berg. Teddy Gamble will take the part of Coquelicot. Harry Wise will assume the role of De Merrimac; Julia Martin will appear as Duc De Nid; Jean Gamble will appear as Valentine; Camille Cleveland as Olivette will manage her part in a manner which would do credit to older prima donnas; her pretty face and excellent voice completely captivated the audience during the performances given last summer. Emma Berg will appear as the Countess; her voice is remarkably sweet and powerful. On the whole the performances in this city will be a rare treat, and, as the Juveniles are great favorites, they will assuredly receive the patronage of the theatre going public.
